AREA DVD

With the new edition of the legendary QUAD components, consisting of the 33 stereo preamplifier and the 303 power amplifier, the British company has achieved a great success. The retro-oriented design provides unique selling points, and the technical structure of both devices is extremely clean... Acoustically, the QUAD 33 and QUAD 303 shine with an enormous degree of sonic culture and acoustic harmony.

33 & 303

Pursuit Perfect System (UK)

I just like having the Quad 33 preamplifier in the system; it's easy to live with... Most people will likely use the Quad 33 with the 303 power amplifier, creating a setup that's easy to live with – hardly any heat generated and very enjoyable sound... The real appeal lies in the overall package – its look, feel, and easygoing sound that works fantastically with the Super Linton speakers.

Stereophile

No matter what I threw at it, recordings or ancillary gear, the Revela 1s made me forget my cares and get happy. Sparkling, pure highs meet rich, warm bass for a very satisfying sound. Forget harsh treble; the Revela 1's treble is smooth, see-through, and revealing, and allied to rich, flowing, surprisingly impactful bass.

Hi-Fi News Outstanding Product

Following the dazzling Revela 1, the Revela 2 enhances every sonic parameter you could address. More to the point, given that it occupies a nearly identical footprint to the Revela 1 on its dedicated stands, there's only one reason to buy the latter over the Revela 2, and that's budget. Upon comparing this to a £10k reference, the Law of Diminishing Returns slapped me in the face – this speaker is incredible!

Hi-Fi Choice

The Quad proves that in hi-fi, as in life, you get what you pay for. The most expensive speaker here is also the best, albeit not in every respect. It sounds bigger and more open than the other group members, and this is doubtless helped by its larger cabinet and mid/bass driver and ribbon tweeter. Open and airy, it delivers a wealth of detail that really unlocks the recording positive-feedback

At its affordable price, it's available to almost anyone who wants to get into high-end audio. I also love that it plays well with tube amplification. And, although I would not label the Revela 2 a budget loudspeaker, I would call it a bargain. If I had not known the price I would've guessed at least two times higher. The Revela 2 was a pleasure to have in my system.

Hi-Fi News Outstanding Product

If there are any issues with Quad's Revela 1, it's that it is too good. The past couple of years have shown the market is awash with amazing speakers at all price points, but the Revela 1 doesn't just excel at £1799: if I hadn't known the price, the sound and build would have had me guessing £5000. Grab a pair before Quad figures out they're underpriced. Even with nine months to go, this is my product of 2024.

In the Artera series, Quad introduces a noble pre and monoblock power amplifier combination that embodies classic virtues and is also affordable.

The Arteras deliver well-rounded, lively, and engaging musical performance. This is classic high-end audio at a very affordable price. I cannot perceive any compromises in sound or features. For those who long for separate components, sustainable fulfillment awaits here. - Uwe Steiner

Artera PRE

Nov, 2019

Hi-Fi World -
5 Globes Outstanding
Amongst The Best

Artera PRE is a deceptively simple preamplifier – inside it is both audiophile and complex in what it can do, having microprocessor control and purist relay switching to give an all-analogue preamplifier capable of coping with whatever is plugged in. Absence of digital input or Bluetooth may be a no-no to some, but both can be fed in from outside sources if need be. Sound quality was exquisite: pure analogue smoothness and depth, the phono stage being supremely quiet if a tad laid back. Overall though, a lovely allanalogue preamplifier in pure Quad tradition.

HEADPHONE.GURU

...true to its heritage as the product of one of the first audiophile tube amplifier companies offering a sweet musical midrange and high end with beefy but tight lows and a huge soundstage regardless of the headphone it was played through. The DAC handled standard resolution tracks as well as it did high-resolution PCM and DSD painting vistas on the aural canvas though much of this is due to the amplifier as I received similar results with external DACs...on its own, the PA-ONE+ is the quintessential audiophile tube amp lifting the veil between the listener and the music creating an immersive and pleasurable experience.

A throwback to the Best Speaker of 2020, Most Memorable Ones (based on the price and sound quality ratio): The number two spot is QUAD S2, which is probably the one of the most accurate sound reproduction of human voices and vocals, and also really good mid-range with very well extended high frequency and really good instrument separation... And that little 5-inch bass driver also have a significant amount of a lower frequency response, surprisingly good and very musical sounding speaker!

Throughout the review... I could relax more; safe in their warmer, more elastic, and deeper sonic embrace. The Quad S-2 is always on time, keeps its i's dotted and its T's crossed, and polishes its shoes often... The S-2 is among the closest approaches I've heard to the natural and complete tone of live instruments and also to what the recording engineers (probably) wanted you to hear.
